County eases demands on Kern Construction

MAD RIVER UNION
GLENDALE – After a three-hour hearing, the permit of one of Humboldt County's most well-known construction services companies was changed but not nearly as much as some neighbors and their district supervisor were calling for. Changes to the Conditional Use Permit for the Glendale-based Kern Construction company were up for consideration at the April 15 Board of Supervisors meeting. Two areas of concern were prominent – environmental issues related to unpermitted construction of a berm and what the county and neighbors described as nuisance issues stemming from

McK Town Center DEIR: put Central on 'road diet'

Jack Durham
MAD RIVER UNION

MCKINLEYVILLE – The draft plan for the McKinleyville Town Center calls for putting a portion of Central Avenue on a "road diet" in an effort to slow down traffic and make the downtown more pedestrian friendly.

Details of controversial proposal are included in the recently released McKinleyville Town Center Zoning Amendment Draft Environmental Impact Report.

Proponents of the idea have argued that slowing down traffic is essential to making the Town Center friendly for pedestrians. Opponents have argue that the road diet will snarl traffic and lengthen drive times.

BLUE LAKE – As hundreds gathered in Eureka Saturday as part of a national "Hands Off" protest of Trump Administration policies, the peacable hamlet of Blue Lake mounted its own grass-roots pushback. The modest, amorphous protest of perhaps 30 had no agenda, nor speakers or any visible structure other than what organizer Marlene Smith described as "good-natured peacefulness." There was plenty of that, as friends and neighbors greeted each other, many carrying signs reflecting a common theme: hands off our democratic institutions. Thence commenced some leisurely milling and chatting – resistance, Blue Lake style. Motley, mostly home-made placards bore messages including, "Why Not Be Kind?" "To Be Pro-America Is To Be Anti-Trump," "It's Never Too Late To Come To Your Senses," "Hands Off Social Security" and "Hands Off Immigrant Rights," among other statements. One protester's sweat-shirt read "GULF OF MEXICO," countering the Trump administration's revisionist geography. A counter-protest by MAGA supporters had been discussed on the Blue Lake Community News Facebook page, and though the Hands Off

Healthcare access workshop at Dell’Arte to be livestreamed

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT BLUE LAKE – The County of Humboldt’s Human Resources Department, in partnership with the Humboldt Health Foundation and Humboldt Area Foundation and Wild Rivers Community Foundation (HAF+WRFCF), invites the community to an important public event: “Healthcare Access and Quality Challenges: Wider Community Impacts.” This event will explore critical issues facing the local healthcare system and the real impacts these challenges have on the lives of Humboldt County’s residents. This event will take place on Thursday, April 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Dell’Arte, located at 131 H St. in Blue Lake. A livestream will be available via Access Humboldt for virtual attendees. Humboldt County is designated as a Health Provider Shortage Area by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The entire Redwood Coast region is also classified as a Mental Health Provider Shortage Area. These designations highlight serious gaps in the local healthcare system, making this issue a priority for the community. This event will offer an in-depth, data-informed look at these challenges and how they impact the local healthcare system, workforce and the community as a whole. The program will feature two panel discussions, moderated by Humboldt County Human Resources’ Diversity, Equity and Inclusion & Organizational Development Manager Dr. Jeremy Clark, with subject-matter experts from healthcare, human resources, government, non-profits and local business sectors. Topics include:

- How healthcare shortages impact local recruitment, hiring, retention and the local economy
- The disproportionate effects limited healthcare access has on marginalized communities in Humboldt County
- Possible actions that can be made to improve Humboldt County’s healthcare landscape

Audience participation will be encouraged via a virtual platform to uplift voices in the community. The event will be livestreamed by Access Humboldt and will provide opportunities for virtual audience engagement. To watch the livestream, visit youtube.com/AccessHumboldt or tune in to Optimum Channel 8 from home. No registration is required to view the livestream or broadcast. A recording will be available after the event on Access Humboldt’s YouTube page.

Cal Poly journalist Maryanne Casas-Perez wins scholarship

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT CAL POLY CAMPUS – Cal Poly Humboldt journalism student Maryanne Casas-Perez received a National Association of Hispanic Journalists scholarship this month. The NAHJ is an educational and charitable association dedicated to the recognition and professional advancement of Hispanic journalism students, professionals and educators. Casas-Perez was one of 15 college students nationally to receive the Ruben Salazar scholarship to assist young journalists. The scholarship fund is named after Mexican American journalist Ruben Salazar who was a columnist for the Los Angeles Times and news director for the Spanish language television station KMEX. “Winning this scholarship makes me so proud to be a bilingual student journalist. It motivates me to keep writing for my community,” Casas-Perez said. “I am beyond grateful because Ruben Salazar has been an inspiration to me and to win this journalism scholarship makes me feel I am on the right path.” Casas-Perez is a senior and has been making an impact on and off campus through her work with the bilingual student newspaper El Leñador, where she has been the editor in chief for two semesters. In January 2024, she transferred to Humboldt after working as a reporter at el Don at Santa Ana College. This summer Casas-Perez will travel to the 2025 NAHJ national conference in Chicago. “Our department is thrilled Maryanne is getting recognized for her work. When she joined El Leñador, she quickly stood out as a reporter who was eager to learn and take on difficult stories,” said Andrea Juarez, the faculty adviser for the newspaper. “She’s worked diligently to further her goal of becoming a professional journalist. We hope this scholarship and opportunity opens many doors.”

Sheriff fights predator placement in Manila

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE
MANILA – Humboldt County Sheriff William Honsal has issued a public open letter voicing strong opposition to the proposed release of convicted serial rapist and sexually violent predator Richard Stobaugh into the community of Manila.

Richard Stobaugh

Stobaugh's criminal history includes multiple brutal rapes, home invasions and assaults in Humboldt County between 1981 and 1988, often involving weapons and extreme violence. Medical experts have diagnosed him as a sexual sadist with a high risk of reoffending.

A public hearing on the proposed residence will be held on Wednesday, May 7 at 10:15 a.m. in Courtroom One, Humboldt County Superior Court, 825 5th Street, Eureka.

Sheriff Honsal urges all Humboldt County residents to voice their concerns by submitting written opposition to the contacts listed below:

- Liberty Healthcare SVP CONREP Program: LIBERTYSVPCONREP@LibertyHealth.com
- Humboldt County Sheriff's Office: HSO@co.humboldt.ca.us
- Humboldt County District Attorney's Office: districtattorney@co.humboldt.ca.us

"This is not about politics. It's about the safety and peace of mind of every resident in Humboldt County," Honsal emphasized. "We must stand united to protect our community."

Arrest in CPH theft attempts

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT
CAL POLY CAMPUS
– On April 8, the University Police Department (UPD) received a report concerning a vehicle with a shattered window located in the Jolly Giant Commons parking lot.

Upon arrival, officers observed two additional vehicles that had sustained significant damage. The preliminary investigation suggested that these incidents were not isolated; they represented a coordinated effort to steal vehicles, with a particular focus on Hyundai and Kia models, which thieves have increasingly targeted across the county.

In response to these events, on April 9, UPD officers arrested Vijay Sen, who is unaffiliated with Cal Poly Humboldt. Sen was charged with three counts of attempted vehicle theft, vehicle tampering, three counts of vandalism and conspiracy.

This investigation is ongoing. If you have any

CAL POLY ARREST On Tuesday, April 8, the Cal Poly Humboldt University Police Department (UPD) assisted the Humboldt County District Attorney's Office with an arrest of an employee on campus in connection with charges filed by the District Attorney's Office (Penal Codes 288.2 and 288.3), which is leading the investigation. These charges are not related to the employee's work at Cal Poly Humboldt, immigration status, protests, or any other campus-related activity. We cannot comment further on personnel issues or an ongoing criminal investigation. Anyone with information related to this case is encouraged to contact UPD at (707) 826-5555 or the Humboldt County District Attorney's Office at (707) 445-7411.

firms that the essential argument made by both supporters and opponents of the proposal is correct – the road diet would slow down traffic. The question is how much delay are residents willing to put up with in order to create a pedestrian-friendly downtown? And might people adjust their travel routes to avoid the downtown when commuting to work?

The company calculated the “level of service” at various intersections in town, grading them on a scale of A to F, with A being the least amount of delay for vehicles and F being the most amount of delay. During the peak morning and evening travel times, the signalized intersection of Central and Hiller gets a A rating, meaning there’s an average delay of 8.7 to 9.5 seconds, with some vehicles having zero delays if they have a green light.

But with the road diet, along with the 2,000 to 3,000 additional travelers during peak hours when the Town Center is fully developed in the coming decades, that same intersection could be downgraded to a D rating, meaning vehicles may be delayed 35 to 55 seconds.

The study says that this D rating could be im-

Pony Express Days will be held Thursday, June 5 through Saturday, June 7. There will be a chili cook-off, festival, parade and pancake breakfast, along with the return of the Friday Night Dance this year at the Dow’s Prairie Grange. “We’re also adding exciting new events like a pie eating contest, window decorating competition, and a Trail Passport Challenge to help you explore and engage with our community all week long as June begins,” according to the chamber.

McK Chamber mixer

The McKinleyville Chamber of Commerce will hold its next mixer on Thursday, April 24 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at Eureka Natural Foods, 2165 Central Ave. in McKinleyville. “Join us for an exciting evening of networking, refreshments, beverages, raffle prizes and community

DRONING ON PG&E last week demonstrated its use of camera drones for inspection of critical power transmission facilities out along the power line corridor at Bayside Cutoff. The drones record detailed images of power towers which are analyzed to better allocate maintenance resources. The drones also relieve human technicians from having to climb up the hazardous towers, and speed up the process. Let's all get up and dance to a song

That was a hit before your mother was born

Though she was born a long, long time ago

Your mother should know

Your mother should know.

– Paul McCartney
McCartney said he wrote this song as a plea for generational understanding and respect for a mother's life experience. Our mothers came from varied economic, societal and family experiences. Mother's Day this year is Sunday May 11.

To get you in the mood for this day, the Mad River Grange is presenting Stories of Mother on Sunday, May 4 at 3 p.m. at the Grange. This totally unique performance will include stories and songs about Mom by Jeff DeMark, Jackie Dandeneau, Rick Levin, Marvin Samuels, Laura Black and Paul DeMark.

The event begins with a social hour that will offer noshes

Hands Off

fers were wary of a parade of detractors in garishly adorned pickup trucks, any parade of MAGA-mobiles failed to materialize.

Just one possible counterprotester – a pickup truck with giant flags – made a couple of passes, but its U.S. and Marine Corps flags lacked any overt Trump branding. As it passed, members of Blue Lake's small Hands Off contingent wagged their signs at it.

A few attendees noted the abundance of gray hair among the protesters, reflecting a generally older demographic. One exception was three-and-a-half year-old Alistair, who gamboled about on the square, assisting oldsters with their folding chairs and keeping his mom busy.

One participant said the large protest crowds down at the county seat weren't her scene, and that the Blue Lake protest was of a more approachable scale for someone who wants to speak out.

Smith said both were useful. "The massive turnout in Eureka was important as a show of solidarity," she said. "For me, our demonstration was a perfect expression of a small community uniting to express, in our own backyard, the many concerns we all face with the current administration. Though small in numbers, our points were made."

She noted that the event was rage-free. "I was also relieved that there were no confrontations," Smith said.

'AS BEAUTIFUL' AS EVER'

HAY MAN Arcata Bottom rancher John McDonald was on his vintage tractor Saturday, doing the earliest hay-mowing in years. "Looks like one of those years where we get two mowings," he said. "It smells great and it's as beautiful as it ever gets," observed neighbor Carol McFarland.

This walk includes 2 to 3 miles of gentle walking through riparian, grassland and mixed hardwood forests with bird species varying by season. Year-round residents we may observe include jays, towhees, woodpeckers and several raptor species. Meet at the Tooby Park parking lot located one mile west of Garberville on Sprowl Creek Road. There is always more than enough to do on our annual work day, finishing with the usual sandwich bar. Bring your own gloves and water. The best parking options are on the north side of Foster Avenue. Please RSVP so that we can better prepare tasks and tools at hughes@humboldt.edu.

WIGI WETLAND WORKDAY Join Redwood Region Audubon Society on Saturday, April 26 from 9 to 11 a.m. for a Wigi Wetlands Volunteer Workday. Help create bird-friendly native habitats and restore a section of the bay trail by removing invasive plants and trash. This month, we will continue planting but mostly focus on removing and containing the spread of invasive plants and nurturing recently planted natives. We will also continue to clean up abandoned campsites. The trail section is located behind the Bayshore Mall and volunteers will meet in the parking lot directly behind Walmart. We will provide tools, gloves and packaged snacks. Contact Eric Nelson etn3115@icloud.com with questions or more information.

Reserve your space for one or more of these trips to search for birds that are seldom if ever seen from shore, as well as whales, dolphins, and other marine animals. Shearwaters, albatrosses, storm-petrels, jaegers, fulmars, auklets and more are to be expected. The trips will generally depart around sunrise and return in the early afternoon. The following dates (Saturdays) are open for sign-ups: May 10, June 21, July 12, Aug. 16, Sept. 13 and Oct. 11. Celebration and action on Earth Day 2025

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – This year marks the 55th Annual Earth Day, and the City of Arcata invites the community to come together in celebration and action!
It’s important to care for Mother Earth every day, but Earth Day is a special time to reflect and recommit to protecting the only planet humans call home. This year’s global theme, “Our Power, Our Planet,” encourages individuals, governments and businesses to make informed energy choices and advocate for a renewable, clean energy future.
From April 20 through 26, local organizations, Cal Poly Humboldt and community members will host events that honor the planet, educate the public and inspire environmental actions. Here is what is happening, as well as some resources to jumpstart new, eco-friendly habits:
• Compost Under the Canopy. Maker’s Apron hosted their third annual Compost Under the Canopy event on Sunday, April 20, in Eureka’s Sequoia Park starting at 9 a.m. Artists used fresh compostable plant materials to transform the trail in Sequoia Park into a temporary mural installation. Community members enjoyed this eco-art until sundown, then it was swept away to become plant food.
• Earth Day Story Time at the Arcata Library. Join a special Earth Day Storytime at the Arcata Library on Tuesday, April 23, from 11 to 11:45 a.m. Shelley Reider from Redwood Coast Energy Authority (RCEA) will join Ms. Sue for a nature-themed reading that explores how people can protect the natural world for future generations.

• Get a Free Library Card and Rent a State Park Pass. Humboldt County residents can sign up for a free library card which works at any branch in the County including the Bookmobile. Library cardholders can check out a free day-use pass for California State Parks at their local library branch. Just present the pass to the Park Aide at a participating California State Park to get free day-use admission and parking for the whole carload.
• Cal Poly Humboldt Earth Week. From April 21–26, Cal Poly Humboldt will host a wide range of sustainability events across campus as part of their Earth Week celebration. The campus community can visit their sustainability webpage to learn about workshops, speakers and student-led activities.
• Increase Energy Efficiency. RCEA is the local Community Choice Energy provider, and they offer numerous programs, rebates and energy tips to make homes more energy-efficient, sustainable and cost-effective. All Humboldt County residents with a PG&E account can order a free Home Energy Efficiency Kit and schedule a free Home Energy Assessment. To learn more about all the residential programs, visit redwoodenergy.org/programs-rebates/residential/.
• Reduce Food Waste. When food ends up in landfills, not only are the energy and resources used to produce and transport the food wasted, but it also releases methane, a powerful greenhouse gas. Shop mindfully, store perishables properly and get creative with leftovers to help reduce waste.
• Start Composting. Composting reduces the volume of organic waste going to landfills, builds healthy soils and conserves water. Buy a compost bin from Humboldt Waste Management Authority at 1059 W. Hawthorne St. in Eureka or compost with The Local Worm Guy or Full Cycle Compost to keep nutrients cycling locally. Visit the city’s website to learn more about composting and green waste at cityofarcata.org/294/Composting-Green-Waste-Resources.

• Don’t Dump and Run – Donate and Recycle. Give unwanted items a second life by participating in a clothing or furniture swap, donating to local thrift stores or recycling them properly instead of sending them to the landfill.
• Use Reusables for Takeout. Start a new habit on Earth Day by bringing personal reusable containers when picking up food from a local spot in Arcata! The City of Arcata has implemented disposable foodware regulations to reduce the use of single-use plastic foodware. This ordinance requires businesses to use fiber-based compostable materials for to-go orders and allows customers to bring their own clean, durable, reusable food and beverage containers to receive a small discount. Learn more at cityofarcata.org/foodwareordinance/.
The City of Arcata has a webpage dedicated to Energy Rebate, Incentive, and Assistance Programs from local, state and federal resources that support energy efficiency and electrification for homes and businesses. Learn more at cityofarcata.org/1068/Rebate-Incentive-and-Assistance-Programs or contact the Environmental Services Department at (707) 822-8184 or email eservices@cityofarcata.org.

The Pollinator Party aims to raise awareness and appreciation for these essential insects. Whether you’re a budding naturalist or just looking for a fun outdoor activity with the family, the Pollinator Party offers something for everyone.

Sit quietly with all sensors activated at the marsh

FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH
ARCATA MARSH – On Sunday, April 27 at 10 a.m., Friends of the Arcata Marsh (FOAM) will continue its free monthly activity “Nature Journaling at the Marsh” led by retired teacher and super-experienced marsh naturalist Lynn Jones.
No pre-registration is required, but sessions are limited to the first 10 people to show up at the Marsh Interpretive Center. All ages are welcome, as long as participant are able to concentrate quietly for an extended period of time. Heavy rain cancels.
FOAM will provide clipboards and colored pencils; participants need to bring their own paper (e.g., a notebook or journal, separate sheets) and a writing implement of their choice to jot notes. A pad to sit on or a folding chair is optional, as are binoculars and guidebooks. Wear weather-appropriate clothing, which may include a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen.

The goal of this 90-minute session is to sit quietly in one spot in the marsh (locations will vary), making formal and informal observations of natural surroundings, on a small or large scale.
The intent is to develop sensory observation skills and curiosity and to explore relationships in nature. Each observation begins with recording the date, precise location, elevation, weather (cloud cover, wind direction, air temperature) and time (most of these can be found on a phone). Next, for 30 to 45 minutes, participants will write and/or draw observations using their various senses. Lynn will offer prompts, but observation topics can be a particular species (plant or animal), ecosystem, or overall environment. Style and interpretation will vary. The session will end with a discussion about “What did this observation make you wonder?”

For more information, call the Interpretive Center at (707) 826-2359.

Earth Day 2025 at the Sequoia Park Zoo

SEQUOIA PARK ZOO
EUREKA – Celebrate Earth Day and Party for the Planet at Sequoia Park Zoo on Sunday, April 27 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Presented by Save the Redwoods League and supported by Redwood Coast Energy Authority and Samara Restoration, Party for the Planet festivities include a native plants giveaway, complimentary animal trading cards and nature journals, native animal keeper talks, conservation and education stations, and more!
As part of our commitment to promoting biodiversity, we will give away free native plants, generously sponsored by Save the Redwoods League and Samara Restoration, to encourage guests to “spring into action” by gardening with native flora. (Limit one per household, while supplies last.)
Planting natives is one of the best ways to create space for pollinators and other wildlife, and we are grateful to Save the Redwoods League and Samara Restoration for supporting the native plants giveaway. Guests can learn more ways to Conserve, Create and Connect to nature at aza.org/partyfortheplanet and visit redwoodzoo.org/conservation for a list of native plants offered during the event.

Sequoia Park Zoo is also excited to host the third annual free community bioblitz on April 27, 2025 from 8:15 to 11 a.m. in celebration of Earth Day and Party for the Planet. Community scientists of all ages and abilities are invited to join the Zoo and identify plants, animals and fungi in Sequoia Park. Check redwoodzoo.org/calendar for event details.
Anyone visiting Sequoia Park can contribute to this bioblitz on iNaturalist by joining the project “2025 Sequoia Park Zoo Bioblitz” at inaturalist.org/projects/2025-sequoia-park-zoo-bioblitz.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Bidders at the trustee auction must make cashier's checks payable to WT Capital. Third party cashier's checks will not be accepted. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 559-228-8393 or visit this internet website www.wtcap.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-14272-104. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (559) 228-8393, or visit this internet website www.wtcap.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-14272-104 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. An otherworldly musical experience

EUREKA SYMPHONY
EUREKA – The Eureka Symphony presents “Music of the Spheres” on Friday, April 25 and Saturday, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Arkley Center for Performing Arts in Downtown Eureka.

A free pre-concert talk, “Musical Notes,” by concertmaster Terrie Baune and pianist John Chernoff, is also at the Arkley from 6:30 to 7 p.m. and is a fun and informative way to learn about the music and the composers, sponsored by Wayne and Carol Palmer. Tickets range from $10 to $54, depending on the seats and time of purchase. Details and tickets are online at eurekasymphony.org/music-of-the-spheres.

The evening begins with Franz Joseph Haydn’s Overture to Il Mondo Della Luna (The World on the Moon), a window into Haydn’s quirky vision of life on the moon, written in the comic opera buffa style. Local high school students will play side by side with orchestra players for a memorable performance.

Conductor and Artistic Director Carol Jacobson says, “It’s so exciting to have these talented young high school musicians playing in the symphony with us. I hope this is just the first of many future collaboration adventures.”

Next will be Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart’s Sinfonia Concertante for Violin, Viola and Orchestra in Eb Major, featuring the return of special guest soloists Liana Bérubé, violin, and Ivo Bokulić, viola. A hybrid of a symphony and a concerto, Mozart’s Sinfonia Concertante combines the majesty of a symphony with ravishingly beautiful music for two soloists.

Violinist Liana Bérubé characterizes her own artistry as being inextricably intertwined with self-knowledge and self-compassion. She is concertmaster of the San Jose Chamber Orchestra, the Magik*Magik Orchestra in San Francisco, and a member of the Left Coast Chamber Ensemble. She has performed in North America, Europe, Asia and Australia and has participated extensively in festivals, concerts, societies, groups, broadcasts and numerous creative collaborations.

Violist Ivo Bokulić is a Croatian-American violist who is popular in the San Francisco

Ivo Bokulić

Bay Area and far beyond. He is acting principal violist of the San José Chamber Orchestra, and holds positions in Opera San José, San Francisco Chamber Orchestra, and One Found Sound.

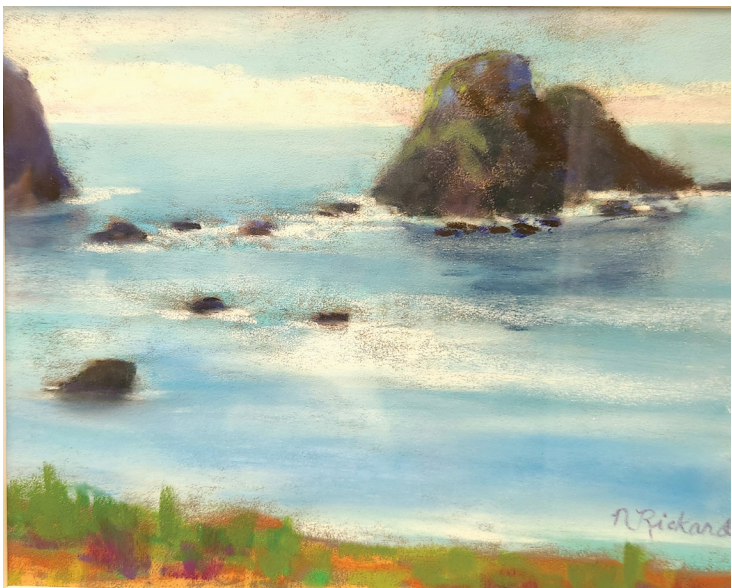

Ivo also performs with various nationally renowned groups and has toured, recorded, and shared the stage with artists such as Smokey Robinson, The Eagles, Death Cab for Cutie, Sting, Andrea Bocelli and Father John Misty. His viola was made by Hiroshi Iizuka in 1999, and features a unique viola d’amore-inspired shape.

The concert’s final piece, The Planets by Gustav Holst, is a timeless and evocative suite for large orchestra, including contrabassoon, euphonium and bass flute. Holst’s fascination with astrology helped him capture the essence of each planet; Mars, the Bringer of War, Venus, the Bringer of Peace, Mercury, the Winged Messenger, Saturn, the Bringer of Old Age, Uranus, the Magician and Jupiter, the Bringer of Jollity.

The audience will be immersed in an adventure made all the more magical by a darkened stage and projected NASA images.
